

Owerri 2004

"Anatomy and Trauma"

= Sub-theme: Sports Injuries =

4th Scientific Conference of the Anatomical Society of Eastern Nigeria (ASEN)

ALL ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

WHO: More than 1000 independent scientists representing anatomists and other areas of life sciences will be in attendance.

WHAT: Owerri 2004 will feature anatomical and intradisciplinary scientific meeting featuring symposia, plenary lectures, oral and poster present actions and an exhibit of scientific equipment, supplies and publication.

WHERE: Department of Anatomy and Neurobiology, Imo State University College of Medicine and Health Sciences, Owerri.

Why You Need to Be at Owerri 2004

- You will have a chance of finding out how your work relates to those of your colleagues.
- You can network with colleagues from the sub region as the guests from other parts of the world.
- Abstracts presented at Owerri 2004 will be published in the June issue of JECA 2005 Journal.

For more Information: Contact

Dr. I.O Okoro

Chairman, Local Organizing Committee

Department of Anatomy and Neurobiology, Imo State University College of Medicine & Health Sciences, Owerri. Nigeria.

Email: asenimsu2004@yahoo.com

Corrigendum

I. In the Volume 2 Number 1 issue of JECA (J. Expt. & Clin. Anat. 2(1)38-40 the title of the article was erroneously published as "Histochemical Study Of The Effects Of Ethanol On Alkaline Phosphatase in the Female Femur of Wistar Rat Foetuses," in of "Histochemical Study Of The Effects Of Ethanol On Alkaline Phosphatase in the Femur of Wistar Rat Foetuses".

The error is regretted.

Editor.

II. In the Vol. 3 Number 2 issue of JECA (J. Expt. & Clin. Anat. 3(1): 35-38) the date of acceptance of the article "Liver and Kidney Morphologies" was erroneously presented as 7-05-04 instead of the actual acceptance date of 8-09-03. The article was received on 04-02-03 instead of 04-02-04 as published.

The error is regretted.

Editor.